Objectives / Expected Learning Outcomes	The discipline aims to provide knowledge about the tasks of ensuring decent living standards for the population, socio-economic development processes occurring in domestic and global markets, as well as legal and regulatory documents adopted in the Republic of Uzbekistan regarding modernization, liberalization and improvement of social policies. Students will study mechanisms aimed at expanding employment, increasing real incomes of the population, improving the social protection and healthcare system, and developing the social sector in accordance with the principles of a socially oriented market economy.
Content	In Uzbekistan, social protection is one of the main priorities of the state policy. A strong social policy is among the most important principles of economic reforms in the country. One of the components of the social sector is the service sector. Increasing the number of local producers and, most importantly, ensuring employment of the population, causes a problem of capital shortages in any country that chooses a market-based economic system.
